Ferguson Says Three of His Teeth Were Knocked Out-Has Goff Seen Byrnes ?

Among the visitors at the Lexow Committee this morning was Congressman-elect Henry C. Miner. Although he has followed with great interest the progress of the investigation, he has never before attended a hearing, and he said he was curious to see for himself how proceedings were conducted.

Public interes seemed to be rather slack this morning, for the crowd in the upper corridor of the Court-House before the opening hour was much smaller than usual, despite the fact that rumors were again affoat that some of the higher police officials would be called to-day to testify.

None of them was on hand, however at 10.30, the hour for which witnesses are subpoensed to be in attendance. It was said that Supt. Byrnes had been in con-suitation with Mr. Goff within the last two days, with reference to his proposed examination, but the counsel for the Committee would neither affirm nor deny

No Let Up, Says Jerome.

The only statement that could be regarded as definite, and that only in a slight degree, was that of Mr. Jerome, slight degree, was that of Mr. Jerome, who said that if people imagined that there was going to be any let up in the efforts of the Committee or counsel to sift the matter of police corruption and bribery to the very bottom they would be very much mistaken. Incidentally, Mr. Jerome and Supt. Byrnes held a long conference this morning.

"Every person who is able to shed any light upon the subject will be called sooner or later," says Mr. Jerome. "It may be this week, or it may be next. I cannot say definitely. A great deal may be done in a week, and in an investigation of this kind we must go slowly.

Every day has added something new to the stock of information in posses-sion of the Committee, and each new phase of the subject that is presented is valuable for the purposes of this investigation. It will not do to be too

Members Were Tardy.

Members Were Tardy.

The members of the Committee were late in arriving this morning. Senator Pound was the first to make his appearance, and it was not until after it o'clock that the others came in. At that hour shearcely a score of persons had taken seats in the spectators' benches. There were two or three women in the witnesses' incresure, and a few police officials in uniform were scattered about the room. The outlook for sensation was not at all promisting up to that time. A few minutes after the hour Senator Pound rapped with his gavel and called upon Mr. Moss, who had come in with a gripsack and a big bundle of papers, to proceed. Senator Bradley held the fort with him.

a gripsack and a big bundle of papers, to proceed. Senator Bradley held the fort with him.

Mr. Moss firs put in evidence a schedule of the rewards turned in to the Police Fension Fund by members of the force since 1889, which he has compiled from the records. It showed that in 1839 the amount turned in was $65.25; in 1890, $222; 1893, $5.

In almost every case the individual contributions were small, usually not exceeding $10, and several were under $5.

Mr. Moss said these items might be useful for future reference and they were offered in evidence.

The first witness called was John J. Ferguson, of 358 West Forty-fifth street. He could not talk very plainly and Mr. Moss asked him what was the matter.

"I lost three of my teeth in the upper jaw on Thanksgiving morning."

Q. Hew $66, you lose them? A. A policeman struck me in the mouth and knocked them out.

The witness said he stopped at Forty-founds arguer and Eleghth append at Forty-founds.

The witness said he stopped at Forty-fourth street and Eighth avenue to buy two crabs. One of them was bad and be demanded a fresh one from the deales. An altercation arose, when Officer Bambrich stepped up and struck him a violent blow in the face, knocking him down.

Had you said snything to the officer? a word. He struck me without saying I to me.

He said he had made a complaint against Pimbrick at Police Headquarters but Mr. Moss advised him to present the case to the District-Attorney. Ferguson said he would do so. Mrs. Katle Monahan was then called to Mrs. Katle Monahan was then called to the stand.

She is married, and lives at 247 West Beventeenth street with her husband, and keeps a boarding-house. She is the woman who was spoken of yesterday by Rev. Dr. Wilson as having been pergequited by the police.

Q. Your house was a respectable one? A. Yes, sin. The Star Brewing Company owned it.

Q. Did Mrs. Giles live near you? A. Yes, she had a house on each side of mine. They were both discreterly houses and men frequently used to come to my house mistaking it for one of Mrs. Giles.

Complaints Were of No Avail. The witness said she complained to her landlord, the Brewing Company, but was informed that nothing could be done.

Told to Go Home.

Continuing her story, Mrs. Monahan said she went to Justice Hogan, and was told by him to go home and not trouble the court with such matters. She then went to Justice Taintor, who told her to get a summons, which she did, and brought the landlord into court. She waited all the morning, and one hearing the case called, asked Justice Hogan about it, and was told that it had been called and disposed of. "This surprised me, and I told him I had not heard it. But he said I had better, and told me to go home and not bother him any more.

After that she saw Inspector McAvoy and Capt. Donohue again, but got no satisfaction, and finally went to. Mr. Goff. The Brewery Company would not make any promises to turn Mrs. Glies out, and finally brought a dispossess warrant against her on Sept. 5 last.

After stopping at the Custom-House dock for luggage examination the tug went on to Forty-second street, whence Mr. Vanderbilt's was driven to his mother's house.

Mr. Vanderbilt refused to be seen, and Dr. Depew, as counsel, declined to talk of his client's affairs.

It is said that Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt has received three anonymous letters warning her that a foreign nobleman is panning to kidnap her seventeen-year-old daughter, Miss Consucia Vanderbilt. They are said to be written in much the same hand as the letter lately received by Mrs. Frederick Vanderbilt, telling her that she was making Anarchists of newsboys. Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt and her daughter have left town for a few days. Dr. Depew, when asked about the letters, expressed a belief that there was no truth in the story.

Neill, Col. Carrington, Lord Pelham Clinton, Master of the Queen's Household; Str Henry Ponsonby, Dr. James Reid, the Queen's Resident Medical Attendant.

Behind the hearse was Sir Charles Tupper, the Canadian High Commisoner, who acted as chief mourner. He was followed by a number of members of the Queen's household, all in deep mourning.

The procession left the Castle by the Henry the Eighth gateway at about 12:30 P. M.

All the shades of the Castle were drawn down except at one window, from where the Queen witnessed the departure of the body for the railroad station.
